

First International Marine Fair

From May 19 to May 21 2010, Centro de Convenciones Cartagena de Indias, Colombia

The First International Marine Fair is an initiative of the Vice-presidency of the Republic, organized by the General Maritime Direction (DIMAR) in which national and international entrepreneurs, academics, Scientifics and experts get together to present and share their products, services and projects in all the subjects related to the sea.

Our fair is the ideal place to present and discuss important topics related to: the care and protection of marine ecosystems, economic development of the field, scientific research related to the oceans and the social and cultural impact of the seas, among others. Likewise, this is the appropriate space to governmental institutions, civil society organizations and private enterprises in order to present to the world all the efforts in marine matter.

This event is part of the bicentennial independence celebration that will be realized in the frame of the Cartagena SAIL 2010, a simultaneous and complementary activity to the fair that will assemble thirteen sailing ships from different countries and national and foreign visitors.

In this first edition, the fair is focused on environmental reality. Both the awareness of the current environmental situation of the world and the encouragement of responsible industrial practices are part of the defense policies of our marine spaces. Therefore, there will be academic activities carried out by important foreign exhibitors and specialists in coastal marine issues related to the global warming. The academic program will consider the following topics: Energy, Industry, Trade, Tourism and Culture.
